

Terms & conditions Leica à la Carte

1. Configuration process

As part of the "Leica à la Carte" service provided on our website www.leica-camera.com, you can use the selection of components to configure a customised camera to meet your own needs and preferences.

2. Registration of result

After completing the configuration, you have the option of printing out the result, i.e. your Leica a la Carte, and/or of sending it to a registered Leica a la Carte dealer.

To send it off, it is necessary for you to register by providing your name, your address and your e-mail address. You will also be given the option of choosing a Leica a la Carte dealer in your area as the recipient. After entering the data and pressing a "Send" button, you will first of all receive an e-mail containing an Internet link. Clicking on this link within the time limit specified in the e-mail automatically sends your configuration to you and to the selected dealer.

3. Ordering from pre-defined registered dealers

You can order your configured camera from one of the dealers stated within the Leica a la Carte service. To do this, you can use the corresponding function – as described above – to send your selected configuration to the dealer. Alternatively, you have the option of printing out your configuration or putting together a new configuration with the dealer. You submit an order for the Leica a la Carte you have configured to the actual dealer.
